12. Registration of Foundlings/ Abandoned Children

A FOUNDLING is a deserted or abandoned infant or child -- with parents, guardian, or relatives being unknown --found by another person (finder); or a child committed to an orphanage, or similar institution with unknown facts of birth and parentage.

Reglementary Period and Place of Registration
The finder / charitable institution must register the foundling with the Office of the Civil Registrar within 30 days from the date of finding / commitment to the child.

If registration is made beyond the reglementary period, the concerned party-registrant will be required to state in a sworn statement the circumstance that caused the late reporting to the Civil Registrar

Agencies to Report to After Finding an Abandoned Child
Immediately after finding a foundling, the finder must report the case to the barangay captain of the place where the foundling was found, or to the Philippine National Police (PNP), whichever is nearer or convenient to the finder.

The finder must, then, commit the child to the care of the Department of Social Welfare and Development (DSWD), or to a duly licensed orphanage, charitable or similar institution. Upon commitment, the finder must give to the DSWD or charitable institution his / her copy of the Certificate of Foundling, if the foundling was previously registered with the Office of the Civil Registrar.

In case the finder wants and is awarded custody of the foundling by the proper authority, he/she shall give a name for the child and must report the same to the Civil Registrar of the City / Municipality where the child was found. Otherwise, the giving of the child's name and its registration as foundling shall be the responsibility of the DSWD, or orphanage or charitable or similar institution where the child was committed.
